GIMGHOUL CASTLE

One of the most interesting and picturesque spots at the University of North Carolina is the site of Gimghoul Castle in the northeast section of Chapel Hill. On clear days and nights the skyline of Durham, 12 miles away, can be seen. The castle itself was built of native stone by the Waldensian stone cutters of western North Carolina. It is the home of the Order of the Gimghoul, student social organization.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C.

GENUINE CURTEICH-CHICAGO "C.T. ART-COLORTONE" POST CARD (REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.)

POST CARD

PLACE
ONE CENT
STAMP
HERE

C-15—Gimghoul Castle,
University of North Carolina,
Chapel Hill, N. C.